I have been a user of Microsoft products for years and have always been satisfied with their products. I urge you to settle this and let the this country get on with the business at hand. Overall I am very upset with the governments handling of the Microsoft case in the first place. Look around, what about the merger with Warner and AOL? Microsoft and Intel have done more to take this country forward with the PC than anyone. Enough is enough. Settle and move onward. The only ones complaining now are
MS competitors.....
